

PACE Program

premier accelerated colleague experience

As a new employee, the first step in your journey at Labcorp Drug Development begins within the PACE Program—our highly specialized approach to employee onboarding and development. While the name PACE signifies our premier approach to training, the letters embody our commitment to engaging new team members to set them up for success.

Premier

As a market leader in the healthcare data sciences industry, our continued global growth at Labcorp Drug Development relies on talented people to drive our mission of improving health and lives around the world. We work to empower you, providing a best-in-class educational experience from your first day and throughout your career journey.

Discover your true potential with top-notch training

Accelerated

You are part of a culture of innovation and continuous learning as we work relentlessly to bring new scientific discoveries to life. The PACE Program is designed to ensure you are successfully onboarded and prepared to learn and contribute at an accelerated pace.

Quickly gain the skills you need to become a valuable contributor

Colleague

At Labcorp Drug Development, being the source for advancing health starts from within. Our diverse talent is core to our ability to innovate, meet customer needs and deliver a clear competitive advantage. Our employees across the globe operate in a collaborative, supportive community and are collectively driven to inform decisions that help people and solve some of the biggest health challenges.

Partner with passionate individuals who work to make a real impact on people's lives

Experience

We believe learning is a journey throughout your career. The PACE Program incorporates a blended learning approach that balances instructor-led, self-paced study and on-the-job training. In addition to your multifaceted training plan, you'll be able to take advantage of buddy and mentorship programs, allowing you to connect with peers and senior colleagues who are passionate about your individual success.
